

Caring for Severely Malnourished Children

By Ann Ashworth and Ann Burgess

- A manual for health workers £3.15 + p&p. Only available from TALC at this special low price. Also available with CD-ROM £4.50
- Drawing on the extensive international experience of the authors.
- Based on guidelines developed by the World Health Organisation.
- Includes clear and informative diagrams and illustrations.

Severely malnourished children need different care, many still die unnecessarily due to inadequate inpatient care. This book shows you how to treat these children successfully and takes into account the limited resources of many hospitals and health centres in developing countries. It also recognises that many malnourished children are HIV positive.

Written for nurses and paediatric health workers in developing countries, their trainers and supervisors and others working in emergency situations.

This low cost edition of Caring for Severely Malnourished Children is sponsored by Teaching-aids At Low Cost and the Academy for Education and Development

To order your copies see overleaf

